I'LL BE HONEST WITH YOU

● How come when football players nearly kill each other — remember what happened to Jim McMahon — the media yawns but when a hockey player crosschecks another, the press reacts as if the sky was falling?

● The answer is simple: hockey is an easy mark for a basically lazy, insipid media which, essentially, knows diddledy-squat about the sport. So, they dump on it.

● New Jersey voters get a lot of points from me for having the brains to shoot down the Meadowlands stadium plans.

● Two of the most contrasting, yet beautiful renditions of a sweet tune are the Bing Crosby and Gerry Mulligan versions of "Here Lies Love."

● The best sports photographer I've seen is Bruce Bennett.

● How come "Hearts of the West" on video isn't half as good as it was in the movie theater?

● Answer to above: same reason why the Marx Brothers aren't.

● Yes, Jack Clark would have made the difference.
